

Kerry Hart | Senior Consultant

Kerry is ARTD's most experienced interviewer and small group facilitator. She sensitively engages with stakeholders, from managers to program clients, including children and seniors, people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds, people with disability, and Indigenous people.

Kerry also advises on and provides input into appropriate qualitative data collection methodologies and tools. In the data analysis stage, Kerry brings a fine lens to understanding how and why key themes compare across demographic groups, contexts, and other key attributes. Kerry's expertise in producing case studies helps to illustrate how programs work in different contexts.

I thrive on interacting with people to draw out their motivations and experiences.
