

APPLYING REAL TIME SENSEMAKING

A free webinar for human services organisations navigating complexity and uncertainty

It's obvious that we are living and working in a challenging time

We used to talk about working in the context of complexity, uncertainty and rapid change. Now, we're living in a world in which the rules are changing daily—and sometimes hourly. We're confronting uncertainties about our health, working lives and livelihoods, our family and community connections.

We need to make good decisions, fast

Real time sense making is an evaluative tool to help move us from reaction, through reflection to refined purpose.

Join us for a practical, working workshop on real time sense-making

This is a space for our community to come together, problem solve and provide support to each other to make good decisions, fast.

Join Sharon Marra-Brown and Jade Maloney on Wednesday 29 April 2020 at 9.30am AEST, as they unpack the 3R model.
