

Business as unusual: Making inclusive choices

A free webinar for human services organisations navigating complexity and uncertainty

Program managers and designers, researchers and evaluators have rapidly adjusted our ways of working to comply with social distancing requirements.

How well have we navigated these changes?
What implications have our decisions had for inclusion?
What challenges have we encountered and what have we found out about what 'works'?

Now that restrictions are lifting, what should we consider taking forward and what issues do we need to address?

Join our panellists for an interactive online discussion on what we've learned about making inclusive choices.

Join Emily Verstege and Jade Maloney on Wednesday 3 June 2020 at 11:30am AEST, as they are joined by:

Therese Kennedy
Inclusive Communications

Simon Green
Young people and disability

Jo Farmer
Evaluation with a mental health lived experience lens

Jo Farmer Consulting
POLICY AND EVALUATION | MENTAL HEALTH

Julie Duong
Culturally diverse communities and people with disability

Register here for the workshop

www.artd.com.au